

What is the Young Adult Parish Missionary Disciple School?

The Young Adult Missionary Discipleship School is an initiative of the Second General Synod of the Archdiocese of Miami. Disciples in Faith, Missionaries of Hope, the Strategic Plan which was developed upon conclusion of the Synod, proclaimed “Expanding our Missionary Outreach to Youth and Young Adults” as one of the three overarching Archdiocesan priorities. Furthermore, a specific goal of the Pastoral Plan is to train young adults as “parish missionaries in peer-to-peer ministry as well as leadership and evangelization best practices.”

The Young Adult Missionary Disciple School launched its first cohort in 2017 and is putting together their second team now. This school provides an opportunity for young adults to be formed more deeply as missionary disciples and equipped to live on mission in their daily lives, especially through their witness and gifts shared with others. As the program progresses, each person will also further discern their own gifts and how the Lord is calling them to evangelization and outreach to other young people in our parishes, schools, workplaces and families in Miami.

The Young Adult Missionary Disciple School consists of nine overnight core sessions, which will be held at retreat houses and other facilities throughout South Florida. Program teachers will be both from the ADOM as well as well-known guest speakers from throughout the country.

What will be covered in the Core Sessions?

All the sessions are designed to address the whole person through the four pillars of formation: intellectual, spiritual, pastoral and human as the base for the others.
