HUMANITAS Launches English Edition

The Pontifical Catholic University of Chile's magazine HUMANITAS has recently launched its English Edition with the purpose of expanding the mission of service to the Catholic Church, the Holy Father and the Magisterium.

HUMANITAS was established in 1995 as a Spanish language publication and provides essays and reflections. The magazine is specially recognized for its high quality design and presentation.

The English edition is presented in a digital format, which can be easily viewed on desktop and mobile platforms from any location throughout the world. The on-line version is readily available, at no charge, on the website www.humanitas.cl.

Priest needed for Missionary Sisters

The Missionaries of Charity are in need of a priest to celebrate Mass for the Sisters on Thursdays at their convent. Any assistance would be very appreciated. The Mission is located at 727 N.W. 17th St., Miami FL. Please call Sister Lima at (305) 326-0032 if you are able to help in any way, even if for a limited time.

We have received reports that some parishes have been approached by law firms or immigration specialists who offered to give immigration workshops and/or seminars on current immigration policies, while soliciting business from those who attend. Please know that no law firm has the authorization of the Archdiocese of Miami to conduct any parish workshops or meetings related to immigration services in this way. If there is a need for this kind of services in your community pastors are encouraged to contact our Catholic Charity Legal Services.

OFFICE OF COMMUNICATIONS

New Home—Same Channel for Sunday TV Mass

Viewers of the Sunday TV Mass can find welcome in a new church setting, enjoying a liturgy produced especially for the homebound. The new Mass is provided by Heart of the Nation, a Catholic television ministry working in partnership with dioceses across the country to serve many thousands of Catholics in need. Look for the new TV Mass in its familiar time slot at 10 a.m. every Sunday morning on WPXM, channel 35 (ION).

TV Mass viewers can also order free subscriptions to the large-print Prayer & Worship Guide to use during Mass and in prayer throughout the week. (To place an order, call toll-free 1-(855) 855-MASS

As part of our constant effort to improve the website and add to the information contained there, we have been making some upgrades to the way the Mass times are listed for each parish. Pastors, please go to the website, www.miamiarch.org, find your parish and double check that all the information posted is correct. That includes:

- ◆ Weekend Mass times
- ◆ Weekday Mass times
- ◆ Confession schedule
- ◆ Adoration schedule
- ◆ Parish website
- ◆ Parish email address
- ◆ Priests serving at parish

We also ask that those who have schools check the website/email information that we have listed as well. Also, please note that if you have announced an event online that is happening at your parish, that event is now linked to your parish page on our website, so people can click on the link and check out the events happening at your church.

Because of recent changes in assignments, and new hires at the Pastoral Center, we also request that all department/ministry/office heads review their listing on the website and let us know of any incorrect information. You may make us aware of needed corrections by emailing:

jdiprado@theadom.org or arsoto@theadom.org, or by clicking on the “report to webmasters” link on the parish/school page.

If a photo of your parish or school does not appear on the website, and you have one (or a logo), please send it to either Juan Di Prado or Ana Rodriguez-Soto at the email addresses above, and it will be included.

The archdiocesan website was viewed by nearly 252,000 unique visitors in 2011, and the number continues to increase. We receive nearly 120,000 page visits per month, most of them looking for information about parishes, events and ministries, which is why it is important that the information we provide be as current, and correct, as possible.

If you have any suggestions, contact Mary Ross Agosta, director of communications, at mragosta@theadom.org. And thank you for your help.
