

Speaker Series

Spring 2021

Thursday, April 22 at 7:00 pm
via Zoom

Dr. Michael Dauphinais
Professor and Chair of Theology
Ave Maria University

Finding Courage and Hope in the Time of COVID: Lessons from C.S. Lewis and St. Thomas Aquinas

Our current age is a time filled with anxiety, stress and fear.

Every age has faced uncertainties, and yet, people today often feel unprepared to face them. How can the risen Christ speak to us through his Church? This talk draws upon the Christian tradition about the virtues of courage and hope to live courageously amidst fears in this life and to foster true hope in the life to come. This talk considers St. Thomas Aquinas, who offers foundational understandings of the virtues of courage and hope, as well as C. S. Lewis, who presents robust images in his fictional stories and other writings to help us understand these virtues in greater detail. Together these two authors help to educate our reason and our imagination, our head and our hearts, to see how the Christian faith helps us to face the challenges of each day with greater trust in God. †

Please join us on Zoom for this exciting new program in which we bring prominent Catholic scholars, authors, and speakers to our community to enlighten us on a wide variety of topics to help us grow in knowledge and love of the Faith. ALL ARE WELCOME!

Please sign up at tinyurl.com/AMHSSpeakerSeries or use the contact information below to receive the Zoom link to all meetings.
And tell a friend!

CONTACT: Mr. Richard Grebenc
Coord. of Theology Outreach & Conferences
rgrebenc@mccarthyhigh.org